One of the first questions anyone asks about house cleaning in Roanoke is simple: how much will it cost? The honest answer is that it depends on your home. Two houses on the same street in Cave Spring can need very different amounts of work. That is why The Happy Housekeepers, a Roanoke Valley company since 1979, gives every customer a free, no-obligation estimate instead of a one-size-fits-all number on a website.

Size is the most obvious factor. A two-bedroom apartment in Hollins takes less time than a five-bedroom house in Hunting Hills with a finished basement. The number of bathrooms matters a lot, since a total bathroom clean-up in each one is among the more time-intensive parts of a visit. Kitchens follow close behind, especially large kitchens with islands and lots of counter space.

Condition matters too. A home that has gone months without a professional clean needs more effort on the first visit than one that is cleaned every week. Pets, young children and heavy foot traffic all add to the workload, as do seasonal factors like spring pollen and muddy winter floors in the Roanoke Valley.

Frequency plays a role. Weekly and bi-weekly plans keep a house in steady shape, so each visit tends to be more efficient. Monthly and one-time visits usually involve more build-up. During the estimate, you can talk through how often service would make sense for your household and budget.

Specialized services are another factor. Cleaning oven and refrigerator interiors, washing walls and woodwork, cleaning light fixtures and cleaning basements go beyond the standard visit. So do spring and fall cleanings, move-in and move-out cleanings and builder or contractor clean-ups. You can add these when you need them rather than paying for them every time.

What you get for the price matters as much as the price itself. The Happy Housekeepers is licensed, bonded and insured, staff are bonded and insured by the company and the business holds a BBB blue seal. The company describes its rates as affordable and its approach as personal, with a follow-up call after the first visit to make sure you are satisfied.

Paying is straightforward, with Visa, Mastercard, American Express and Discover all accepted. Because estimates come with no obligation, there is no risk professional house cleaners in finding out exactly what your home would cost before deciding anything at all.
