When a skin is owned, it can be used in-game in 2 main ways:

1. Crafting: When a gamer crafts an item (like a Metal Facemask or an Assault Rifle) at a repair bench or workbench, they can pick a particular skin from their stock to apply to the newly crafted item.
2. Skinbox (Modded Servers): Many community servers include plugins that enable players to access nearly every skin in the game for complimentary, allowing them to check aesthetic appeals before making a purchase.

The Rust Economy: Steam Market vs. Third-Party Sites

Aspects That Influence Skin Prices:

- Supply and Demand: Items from older collections or limited-time drops naturally end up being scarcer as players stop playing or lose access to accounts.
- Presence and Utility: Skins that offer a tactical benefit (like camouflage or glow-in-the-dark sights) typically command higher rates.
- Youtuber/Streamer Hype: When a prominent material developer showcases a particular skin, market demand frequently increases over night.
