

Composite bonding has become one of the more popular cosmetic treatments at Whites Dental Marble Arch, offering a relatively quick way to repair chips, close small gaps or improve the shape of teeth. Dr Deepak, the practice's aesthetic dentist, has particular expertise in composite bonding, having built a reputation in this specific area alongside veneers and other smile makeover treatments. Unlike veneers, composite bonding typically requires less removal of the natural tooth structure, making it an appealing option for patients wanting a less invasive route to cosmetic improvement.
