

The first night in a new home rarely goes as planned when everything is still sealed inside boxes. Manifest Moving Columbus recommends packing a separate first night box so a few essentials stay easy to find without digging through the entire move.

1. Toiletries and Basic Hygiene Items

Toothbrushes, soap, and a change of towels save a trip to search through bathroom boxes on the first night. Manifest Moving Company suggests packing these items last so they end up on top of the box.

2. Phone Chargers and Basic Electronics

Chargers are easy to misplace during a move, and staying connected on the first night matters more than most people expect. A Moving Company in Columbus OH Manifest moving often hears from clients who wished they had packed chargers manifest movers in columbus oh separately.

3. A Change of Clothes for Each Family Member

Packing one change of clothes per person avoids opening multiple boxes just to get ready the next morning. Columbus OH Movers see this simple step save households real time and frustration.

4. Basic Kitchen Items for a Quick Meal

A few plates, utensils, and a coffee maker make the first morning easier, especially if the kitchen boxes have not been unpacked yet. Manifest Movers in Columbus OH recommend keeping these items separate from the rest of the kitchen packing.

5. Important Documents and Medications

Identification, medications, and any paperwork needed immediately should stay with the family rather than get packed away in a box that might not get opened for days.

Residential Moving Services That Include Packing Guidance

Manifest's residential moving services include guidance on packing priorities like the first night box, helping households settle in faster after the move.

- Toiletries, chargers, and a change of clothes packed separately
- Basic kitchen items kept accessible for the first meal
- Documents and medications kept with the family, not the truck

A little planning around this one box makes the first night far less stressful. Manifest Moving Columbus shares this advice with every client. Visit the Manifest Moving website for more tips.