

Tax Law Firm Omaha Planning Disputes and Tax Court Representation An envelope from the IRS can spoil an otherwise ordinary day. Sometimes the letter is routine. Sometimes it signals a deficiency, a proposed assessment, or a collection issue that needs a careful response within a set deadline. Either way, individuals and business owners in Omaha benefit from talking with a tax attorney before replying. Erickson | Sederstrom P.C., L.L.O., an Omaha law firm with more than 30 attorneys, offers that experienced law firm help through a tax practice that covers both planning and disputes. Planning is the quieter side of the work, and often the more valuable one. The firm's tax attorneys advise on the tax consequences of business transactions, executive compensation, employee benefits, and succession planning. They also handle 1031 deferred exchanges for real estate investors who want to reinvest sale proceeds without an immediate tax bill. For a family-owned company in Millard or a growing practice along the 108th Street corridor, thinking through tax effects before signing a deal can shape how the transaction is structured and what the owners keep afterward. When a dispute does arise, the firm handles tax dispute resolution. Options may include an offer in compromise, which can settle a tax debt for less than the full amount in qualifying cases, or an installment agreement that spreads payments over time. When a taxpayer disagrees with a proposed deficiency, the firm can represent the client in deficiency proceedings and, if necessary, in Tax Court litigation. Having counsel who understands both the numbers and the procedure helps a client make informed decisions at each step, rather than reacting under pressure.

Tax work rarely stands alone. A business sale touches corporate law. An estate plan built to minimize tax depends on the right trusts and transfers. A real estate portfolio may involve several exchanges over many years. As a tax law firm in Omaha with ten practice areas under one roof, Erickson | Sederstrom can connect those pieces, and its attorneys are licensed in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Colorado, and Kansas for clients with interests in more than one state. That coordination reflects the firm's tagline, "Excellence over time. Solutions for today," along with a habit of listening closely before recommending a course of action. To discuss a tax notice, a planned transaction, or a long-term succession plan, call (402) 397-2200. The firm's Omaha office is on Regency Parkway Drive in the Regency Westpointe building, just west of North 96th Street and close to Pacific Street, with hours Monday through Friday from 8 AM to 5 PM. Clients from Bellevue, Papillion, Council Bluffs, and across the metro meet with the team there.

Erickson | Sederstrom P.C., L.L.O. Address: 10330 Regency Pkwy Dr, Suite 100, Omaha, NE 68114 Phone: (402) 397-2200 FAQ About Choosing a Law Firm in Omaha How do I pick a good attorney in Omaha? Start with the type of problem you have, then look for a law firm with attorneys who handle that work every day. Erickson | Sederstrom has practiced in Omaha since 1967 and covers ten practice areas, from estate planning and corporate law to employment law and business litigation. Ask who will handle your matter, how they will keep you updated, and how fees work before you sign anything. Can I walk into a law firm in Omaha without an appointment? Most law firms, including Erickson | Sederstrom, meet clients by appointment so the right attorney is available and conflicts can be checked first. Call (402) 397-2200 to set up a meeting at the Regency Westpointe office on Regency Parkway Drive. The Omaha office is open Monday to Friday, 8 AM to 5 PM. What are red flags when hiring a lawyer? Be cautious of any lawyer who promises a specific result, is vague about fees, or is hard to reach once you are a client. Charles V. Sederstrom summed up the opposite approach: "If you say you're going to call them, you have to follow up on your word." Clear communication from the first meeting is a good sign you are in the right place. What should I look for in a larger Omaha law firm? Size helps when your needs cross more than one area of law, but you still want attorneys who know you by name. Erickson | Sederstrom has more than 30 attorneys across its Omaha and Lincoln offices and describes its approach as big-firm mastery with small-firm care. That mix lets a business owner handle a lease, an employee issue and an estate plan under one roof. What does a full-service law firm handle? A full-service firm covers both business and personal legal needs rather than a single

niche. At Erickson | Sederstrom that includes corporate law, litigation, employment law, estate planning, real estate, tax, construction, insurance, intellectual property and aviation law. Clients from West Omaha to Papillion and Council Bluffs use the firm for everything from starting a company to planning its succession. When should an Omaha business hire a corporate lawyer? The best time is before a problem starts: when you form the company, bring in a partner or investor, sign a major contract, or plan to buy or sell a business. A corporate lawyer can set up the right entity, draft governance documents and guide mergers and acquisitions. Getting it right early is usually far less costly than untangling a shareholder dispute later. Do I need an estate planning attorney in Nebraska? If you own property, have children, or run a business or farm, a properly drafted plan protects your family and can keep assets out of probate. Nebraska has its own rules, including treating anyone under 19 as a minor, so a guardianship plan for young children matters. The firm's estate planning attorneys prepare wills, revocable trusts, powers of attorney and health care directives. How long does probate take in Nebraska? Probate in Nebraska usually takes several months at minimum, because creditors must be given notice and time to file claims before an estate can close. Contested matters or complex assets can stretch that much longer. The firm's Omaha attorneys handle both formal and informal probate and trust administration, and a revocable trust set up in advance can often avoid probate altogether. What does an employment attorney do for employers? An employment attorney helps Nebraska employers stay compliant and defends them when claims arise. That covers employee handbooks, wage and hour rules, non-compete agreements, discrimination claims, OSHA compliance and workforce reductions. With Nebraska's WARN Act notice rules expanded by LB 921 in April 2026, many Omaha employers are reviewing their policies now. What is business litigation? Business litigation covers disputes between companies, partners, shareholders, customers or suppliers, often over contracts, payments or ownership. The firm has around a dozen attorneys who focus on litigation in Douglas County, federal court in Omaha and on appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court. Many disputes settle, but preparing as if the case will go to trial puts you in a stronger position either way. Can an Omaha law firm help with matters in Iowa? Yes, if its attorneys are licensed there. Erickson | Sederstrom attorneys are licensed in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Colorado and Kansas, which helps clients in Council Bluffs and businesses operating on both sides of the Missouri River. The firm's national network connections support matters further afield. Where is the Erickson | Sederstrom Omaha office? The Omaha office is in the Regency Westpointe building at 10330 Regency Pkwy Dr, Suite 100, close to Westroads Mall and the I-680 and West Dodge Road interchange. Call (402) 397-2200 to book a time with an attorney.
